• 100% online availability with 0% risk

Booking a hotel room on the internet has been common practice for quite some time. More and more people use companies such as Booking.com, Venere.com and Hotel.de to reserve their rooms online. The hotel manager is happy with the business. However, he needs to update the availability of his products several times a day to avoid overbooking.

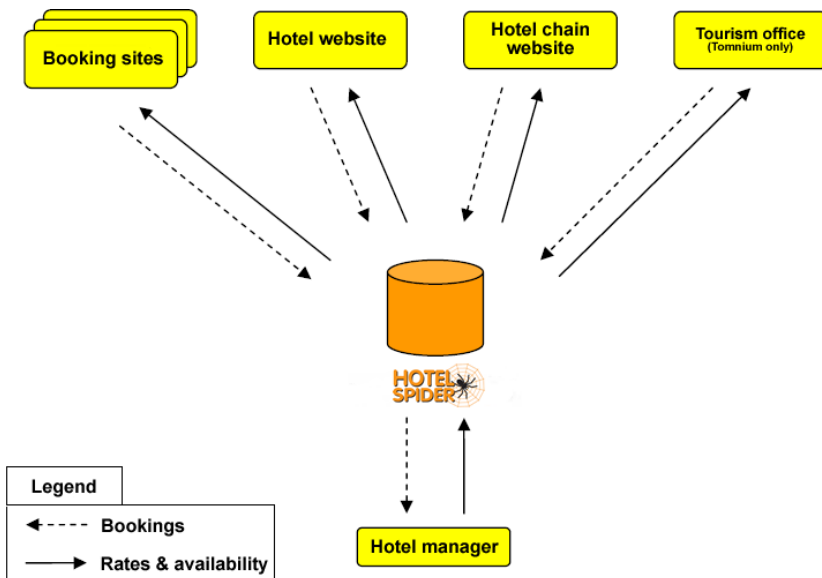

The solution to this problem is Hotel-Spider with its 2-way connections with various booking sites such as Booking.com, Expedia.com, Orbitz.com, Agoda.com, Amadeus/Galileo/Sabre/Worldspan, Hotel.de and the hotel's own website.

The hotel manager now updates his prices and allotments only in Hotel-Spider and no longer on every separate booking site. The reservations arriving from the various sites are all centralised on Hotel-Spider. The hotel manager receives an e-mail containing all the relevant information.

When a room is booked on one of the booking sites, the system automatically updates the number of available room on all other sites, including the hotel's own website. Overbooking is therefore a thing of the past.

The one thing the hotel manager still has to do himself is copying the bookings to his own Front office or writing them down in the good old agenda.

• How it works

• Rates

Hotel-Spider charges a fixed monthly fee, depending on the number of portals connected. There is no set up or maintenance fee. For a comprehensive overview of the Hotel-Spider tariff structure, go to www.hotel-spider.com.

Hotel-Spider can be tested free of charge and without any commitment from your side. More information can be found on www.hotel-spider.com.
